

Art Unit: 3714

and second openings in the housing versus the first and second openings in the display cards. In a phone conversation with Attorney, Jeffrey Howell on 4/1/2008, applicant agreed to the Examiner proposed amendments that clearly locate the plural LEDs on the PCB and that change the first and second openings in the display card to first and second apertures in the display card.

Claims 1, 16, 28 and 34 have been amended in the application, claims 2-12, 15, 17-27 and 29-33 remain as recited in amended claims dated 2/13/2008 and claims 13-14 remain canceled as recited in amended claims dated 2/13/2008. All claims including examiner's amendments are as follows:

on page 2,
^

PW
5/8/08
In claim 1, delete lines 11-12 and insert --a plurality of LED's mounted on said printed circuit board and visible through said display screen and said display card ~~mounted on said printed circuit board.--~~.

on page 4,
^

PW
5/8/08
In claim 16, delete lines 1-2 and insert --a first display card visible through said display screen and having an first opening of the first display card in a first position and configured to complete said circuit in a first manner;--.

on page 4,
^

PW
5/8/08
In claim 16, delete lines 4-6 and insert --a second opening in said housing for receiving a second display card, said second display card being interchangeable with

Art Unit: 3714

said first display card and having an ~~second~~ opening of the second display card in a second position and configured to complete said circuit in a second manner; and--.

on page 5,
^

PW
5/9/08
In claim 28, delete lines 19-22 and insert --playing the hand-held pinball game in a first manner with a first display card viewable through a display screen in the housing of the hand-held pinball game, the first display card having an first opening of the first display card in a first position, which allows completion of an electrical circuit in a first mode;--.

on page 5,
^

PW
5/8/08
In claim 28, delete lines 24-26 and insert --inserting a second display card through the first opening in the housing the second display card having an second opening of the second display card in a second position, said ~~second opening of the second display card~~ allowing completion of the electrical circuit in a second mode; and--

on page 6,
^

PW
5/9/08
In claim 34, delete lines 20-24 and insert --the step of inserting a second display card through the first opening in the housing includes allowing at least one LED that is mounted on a circuit board in the housing behind the display screen to be visible through the second card when the second card is inserted into the first opening, which is not visible through the first card when the first card is inserted into the first opening.--.

Examiner's Statement of Reasons for Allowance are as follows: